

Concord Schools Linked Health Center

Dr. Patrick Rowley gave a very informative talk on pediatric brain disorders and how they can be managed at the fundraising dinner for the Concord School linked Health Center on April 12th. Many guests had questions for Dr. Rowley and he graciously stayed long after the dinner in order to answer all the concerns. The dinner was held to raise money for the Health Center, slated to open in August, 2016.

The Center will provide wellness checks, sport physicals, immunizations, and health screenings for all children K-12 in and surrounding the Concord community. Special programming on mental health issues such as eating disorders, bullying, and smoking cessation will be available through counselors for children and their families.

The Center has received funding through the Jackson community Foundation and the Sigmund foundation. If you would like to help prepare the health center, located on main St., for opening, by cleaning, painting or yard clean-up, please call Tammy at 750-1200 x1706.
